

Guards Against Nuclear Holocaust Urged By Eisenhower In Message To Congress

Stocks Decline; 5,300,000 Sales

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP) — Waves of selling engulfed the stock market today for the second day in a row, but a rally in late afternoon trimmed losses.

At the close, wider declines ranged from $3 to $5 a share in the higher-priced issues.

Volume surged to 5,300,000 shares, greatest since Sept. 5, 1939, when war broke out in Europe.

Selling became so intense in the afternoon that the ticker dropped 13 minutes behind in reporting transactions on the floor.

Brokers' offices were jammed and their phones seldom silent. Announcement that a Senate committee planned to study the long rise in the market brought a flood of new queries to dealers.

Teletype facilities linking uptown brokerage offices with their Wall Street headquarters were swamped with orders. On the floor of the exchange, activity was hectic. The visitors' gallery was crowded.

Brokers watched closely for signs that the big group of new investors was selling. They reported considerable unloading by "non-professionals" but expressed belief that the great majority of smaller investors was holding on.

It was difficult to pinpoint the role the average investor was playing. One broker declared the public today isn't speculating as it was in 1946, when the market reached a peak and then sold down sharply. It's widely believed that most newcomers to the market are buying securities to put away in strong boxes—not to make a quick profit.

In Washington, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said the Senate Banking Committee probably will make a study of the long climb in the market which preceded this week's break. He said he wants to "avoid anything like the 1929 crash."

"I'm not suggesting there is anything wrong, or any rigging or shoddiness," Fulbright said. "I'm not suggesting an investigation because that usually implies something is wrong, but I do think that a study would be appropriate."

He said witnesses will include Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Federal Reserve officials and leaders of the nation's stock exchanges.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, said he'd be glad to cooperate with the Senate committee.

"None of the basic economic indices justifies alarm over the present level of the market," he added. "The exchange markets are free, open, fully regulated and honest. To compare today's securities prices with those of 1929 has no valid basis. The fact that a Ford once sold for $500 is of no relevance in a proper appraisal of the value of today's Ford."

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, commented that "while I have not heard from Sen. Fulbright, it goes without saying that the exchange would welcome the opportunity to cooperate with the senator and his committee in every way."

The market started sliding yesterday when it suffered the widest break since the Korean War broke out 4½ years ago. The decline was touched off by Federal Reserve Board action raising margin requirements from 50 per cent to 60 per cent, but many analysts suggested the market was ripe for a sharp fall anyway, having climbed so high.

Today, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $1.60 to $150.80. But that was less than half the $3.40 drop recorded Wednesday. As measured by the average, the total value of all securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange declined an estimated $1,600,000,000 today and $3,400,000,000 yesterday.

Shopping Hour Changes Take Effect Tonight

A change in night shopping hours goes into effect tonight in Stroudsburg retail stores.

Merchants of the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association have adopted a new schedule of hours which calls for the stores to stay open tonight until 9 and close Saturday night at 6.

A number of stores are offering specials to mark the inauguration of the new store hours.

Railroads, Truck Firms End Squabble

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP) — A powerful group of railroad and trucking company officials announced today formation of a joint council to end their bitter transportation fight.

Walter J. Tuohy, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, said neither railroads nor trucks alone can serve the transportation needs of the nation.

"Cooperation between what are essentially two arms of one great industry is vital to the American public," he said at a news conference announcing the peace council formation.

Co-chairmen of the council are Tuohy and D. L. Sutherland, chairman of the board of the Middle Atlantic Transportation Co.

Tuohy said that "in sitting down to try to reconcile any issues between the railroads and highway carriers which might impede the best public service by either one, we believe we are responding to the desires of the President, Cabinet members and high state and federal officials, including members of the Interstate Commerce Commission."

Leader Picks Finnegan For Cabinet Post

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6 (AP) — Gov. elect George M. Leader today designated James A. Finnegan, president of Philadelphia's City Council, as his choice for secretary of the commonwealth.

Finnegan will take over the post, regarded as a good vantage point for building political patronage, after Leader is inaugurated Jan. 18.

The cabinet position is the 10th filled by the incoming governor. It pays $15,000 a year. Eight remain to be filled.

Finnegan, 48, is the former Philadelphia city Democratic chairman who led his party to five successive election victories in the city. His name was recently mentioned prominently as a possible successor to Stephen A. Mitchell as chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

In announcing the prospective appointment, Leader termed Finnegan a "man of solid convictions who knows how to think and act in the public interest."

Armed Forces Training Bills Introduced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Compulsory military training for all draft-age youths and a four-year extension of Selective Service were proposed in Congress today with powerful backing.

Without waiting for the administration to offer details of its own proposals, Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) and six other members of the Senate Armed Services Committee introduced a measure in that body.

An identical bill was offered in the House by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee.

Today's "military manpower training bills" were sponsored by the American Legion and other veterans' organizations which have been pressing Congress for Universal Military Training for several years.

The measures were introduced shortly after President Eisenhower had delivered his State of the Union message. In it he promised to send Congress details of the administration's proposals next Thursday.

Congressional military experts said there were several marked differences between the American Legion proposals and those to be offered later by the administration.

President Eisenhower said he would ask an extension of the present draft act, requiring two years service for men between 18 and 26 years. It expires June 30.

The Russell-Vinson bills also request an extension, to 1959.

The bills also propose compulsory military training of 1,000 hours, estimated at about four months, for all physically fit young men of draft age without limit on numbers.

The administration has announced it will seek six months training for up to 100,000 young men a year, in addition to the usual draft plan for others. These 100,000 would be trained in the regular armed services and then be required to serve for up to nine years in an organized reserve unit.

The bills offered today propose "a minimum over-all training obligation of five years, which would be increased to eight years if the individual failed to participate actively in reserve training."

Under the bills, the trainees would be "members of a special National Security Training Corps, subject to distinctive regulations and status."

Under both plans they would get $30 a month while training and would not be eligible to veterans' benefits.

Joining Russell in sponsoring the bill in the Senate were Sens. Bridges (R-NH), Saltonstall (R-Mass), Symington (D-Mo), Stennis (D-Miss), Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Jackson (D-Wash.).

Masked Gunmen Take $3,969 From Under Carpets

GRAYSON, Ky., Jan. 6 (AP) — The Lonnie Gillum family of nearby Sophie has learned not to leave 100-dollar bills lying around under rugs.

Carter County officials were told yesterday that three masked men—all armed and wearing gloves—entered the Gillum home Monday night while Gillum was out of town and escaped with $3,960, mostly in 100-dollar bills.

Gillum's wife, Rosie, and a 21-year-old daughter were held at gunpoint by one of the trio while the other two ransacked the house until they found the money beneath a rug.

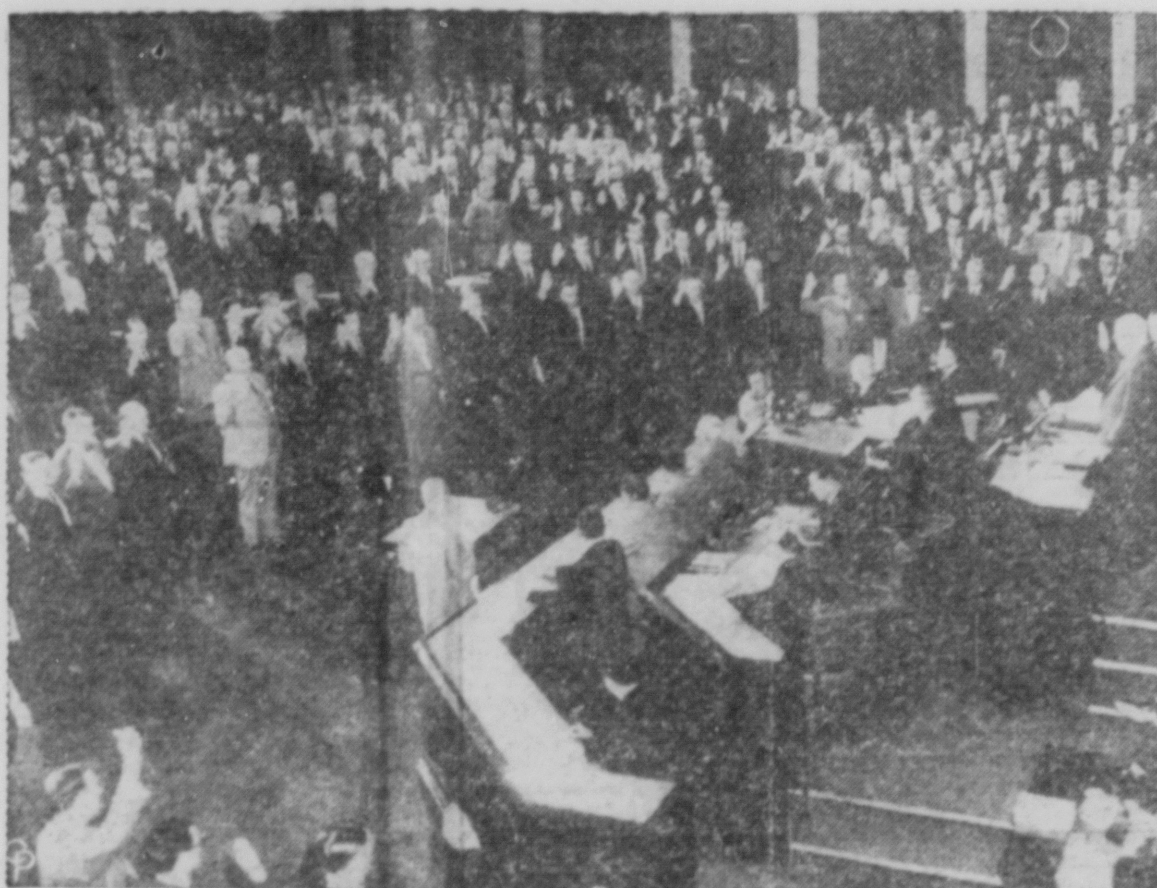

Mrs. Gillum told authorities one of the men said: "Grandmother said they had a pot of money here."

Marion Marlowe Denies Reports

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6 (AP) — Singer Marion Marlowe, here with her fiancé, TV producer Larry Puck, said today she definitely still is a member of the Arthur Godfrey show.

She and Puck both denied to newsmen that Godfrey was angered by the romance between the two.

When their engagement was announced last month it also was reported that Godfrey had demoted Puck from producing the show "Arthur Godfrey and his Friends." He still is producer for Godfrey's other show, "Talent Scouts."

THIS IS A GENERAL VIEW of the House of Representatives chamber in Washington as members of the 84th Congress, standing with hands raised, were formally sworn in. On the rostrum is the new House Speaker, Rep. Sam Rayburn, of Texas, who declared: "I am going to vote to levy taxes and appropriate a sufficient amount of money to make our country so strong that no international desperado will dare attack us."

Hammarhjold, Chou Confer About 11 Captive Americans; Second Meeting Called Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 6 (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold and Chou En-lai talked for 3½ hours in Peiping today about 11 American fliers jailed as spies and other U. N. personnel held by the Communists.

The U. N. said they will meet for a second round tomorrow.

The U. N. secretary general and the Premier-foreign minister of Red China went into their first formal conversation flanked by high, British-trained legal advisors.

U. N. circles here speculated that the legal aspects of the issue revolving around the imprisoned fliers were paramount in this initial meeting.

Hammarhjold flew to Peiping in a dramatic effort to obtain the release of the American fliers and the repatriation of other U. N. personnel held by the Communists from the Korean War.

In U. N. Assembly debates on the issue, the United States and its Allies declared the fliers were military personnel, not spies, and should be treated as prisoners of war.

The Communist bloc replied that these men were shot down in China on an espionage mission and their convictions were in accord with Chinese law.

Hammarhjold also wants the repatriation of hundreds of prisoners of war who have not been accounted for and who are believed to be held in Communist camps or jails.

The secretary general sent the U. N. a brief message giving the time of the meeting and saying who took part. He did not state whether progress was made nor did he express any opinion on the talk.

The unanimous report proposed amendments to Senate rules that would afford greater protection to witnesses and, in general, give more control to committee majorities and the Senate itself.

One change proposed by the subcommittee would give any person who believed his reputation had been adversely affected by testimony the right to answer, either in person or by sworn statement.

Another would require committee chairmen from time to time to report to the Senate on the general nature of proposed investigations. In case the national security might be endangered by disclosure, the president of the Senate would be so advised in writing.

Luxury Liner Rescues 10 Fishermen From Sinking Vessel In Storm-Tossed Atlantic

Editor's Note: Moses Berman, Associated Press reporter, was aboard the Queen of Bermuda which rescued the crew of the sinking fishing vessel Student Prince II. This is his account of the rescue.

By MOSES BERMAN
ABOARD THE QUEEN OF BERMUDA, Jan. 6 (AP) — The gay luxury liner Queen of Bermuda backed-tracked 150 angry ocean miles today to take 10 hapless fishermen from their foundering craft in mid-Atlantic.

All told the actual rescue operation took about 90 minutes, but they were breathtaking ones both for the rescuers and those rescued.

Once, blown by wind and wave, the derelict Student Prince II passed hard by the Queen of Bermuda's bow. Those nearest the bow of the Queen said a possibly tragic collision was missed by only a few feet.

A few minutes later, as the Queen of Bermuda's skipper, Capt. Leslie F. Banyard, maneuvered for position, the Student Prince crossed the stern of the liner, but it was farther away this time.

The ten who were saved, all from Newfoundland, comprised the Student Prince's entire complement.

They were exhausted by their ordeal, but only one had suffered injury. He is Samuel Butler of Grand Banks, whose right ankle was fractured.

Jobless Dole Gets Priority

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6 (AP) — Gov. elect George M. Leader today gave top priority to the problem of unemployment compensation in Pennsylvania.

And he gave assurances that the $30 a week now going to the unemployed won't be slashed.

"We don't want to see compensation reduced from $30 to $20 a week," Leader told a news conference. "We have to cope with that question. That's No. 1 on the list."

The incoming Democratic governor got to the unemployment compensation question after he was asked if the Legislature would recess immediately after inaugural day, Jan. 18.

"We will not insist that the Legislature recess," Leader said. "We don't want to send them (the legislators) home if there are matters needing immediate attention. There may be some emergency matters."

Germans Map Pact Strategy

BONN, Germany, Jan. 6 (AP) — Should West Germany's Parliament wait for final action by the French before ratifying the Paris rearmament treaties?

That question was the theme of a strategy conference here tonight of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his political supporters.

Adenauer himself is in a hurry. He wants German Ratification early next month of the pacts, which would give the Federal Republic sovereignty and authorize the raising of German armed forces for NATO.

Some Bonn politicians, however, still have rueful memories of last year, when the West Germans ratified the European Defense Community only to see it rejected later by the French National Assembly.

Tony argue it would be better for the Germans to hang back this time and see what the French do.

While several U. S. Coast Guard airplanes flew overhead and the Queen's lifeboat bobbed about in the water, oil was poured onto the water to calm it. Finally the lifeboat got into position to make the rescue.

Some of the 10 fishermen jumped into the water and were pulled out by the rescue party. Others climbed down the side of the stricken vessel into the lifeboat.

Finally our rescue craft headed back, and retrieving it was as delicate a maneuver as the launching.

The main problem was to pull alongside the mother ship without being smashed to bits.

In this, too, Musson succeeded, and some of the Student Prince's survivors were taken aboard through an open hatch near water level.

Then ropes lowered from decks above were secured to the lifeboat and she was raised out of the water.

Bids For Unity, Sees Heartening Hope For Peace

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — President Eisenhower held out the hand of cooperation to the new, Democratic-controlled Congress today along with a massive legislative program keyed to warding off "the catastrophe of nuclear holocaust."

In a message to the lawmakers on the State of the Union, a message that bid strongly for political harmony and good will, Eisenhower saw a heartening hope for world peace, and progress toward the ultimate "rule of freedom and justice."

Yet, he said that the peace of today is insecure in the face of "military machines and ambitions of the Soviet-Communist bloc" that create sobering problems and world uneasiness.

Democrats and Republicans broke in with applause for a promise that "America's response to aggression will be swift and decisive." Russian Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin sat stone-faced and motionless.

Among a number of the Congress members who heard the President deliver his message in person in the House chamber there was something less than exuberant enthusiasm for a military program that will cut down manpower and place increased dependence on airpower and new weapons of "rapid and destructive striking power." Several key senators and House members adopted a "show-me" attitude on the manpower question.

But for the presidential offer of cooperation, from himself and every government agency, in meeting the problems of perilous times there was a loud demonstration of approval.

With the shift of congressional control to the Democrats, Eisenhower said, both parties now are "on trial." He called on them to avoid paralysis and an "indecision approaching futility." He urged:

"Let the general good be our yardstick on every great issue of our time."

A heavy burst of applause ran through the chamber.

In the domestic legislation field, Eisenhower asked such measures as a 90-cent minimum wage, new tariff - cutting powers, federal health aids, revision of labor laws, a lowered voting age, "affirmative action" for more school facilities, and statehood for Hawaii.

Behind the President as he spoke was a concrete demonstration of at least a temporary political truce. Side by side on the rostrum sat Democratic Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who crossed swords vigorously in the 1954 political wars.

Eisenhower interrupted his own address at the outset to extend greetings and an outstretched hand to Rayburn on the speaker's 73rd birthday.

The program the chief executive laid down calls on America and Congress to work for peace while remaining strong, to take steps to strengthen the economy and expand prosperity, to meet the human needs of every citizen, and move on to "a future filled with opportunity and hope."

In a Congress already keenly aware that the issues of the next 18 months will be those of the 1956 presidential election, the GOP started the cheering section going when Eisenhower said tax cuts may be possible next year, but not in 1955.

To at least two House Democrats, Eisenhower's proposals had something of a Democratic party ring to them and sounded like a bid for another term in 1956.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) said the speech essentially was a pronouncement of principles the Democrats have been putting into effect over the years. He said it "sounded very much like an announcement of his intentions to be a presidential candidate in 1956 on both tickets, the Democratic and Republican."

Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Tex.) said the message sounded like a "1956 announcement speech—but I want to see how he fills in the details."

"He went further in his programs than Roosevelt ever did," Thomas commented.

Jet Sets Record

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 6 (AP) — Secretary of the Air Force Harold G. Talbot disclosed tonight that a B-37 bomber had flown 21,000 miles and stayed in the air 47 hours and 35 minutes. In doing so, the bomber set new distance and endurance records for jet aircraft.

Walter Sees Ike Running On 2 Tickets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said tonight that President Eisenhower's State of the Union message "sounded very much like an announcement of his intentions to be a presidential candidate in 1956 on both tickets—the Democratic and the Republican."

"The President's speech to the joint session of Congress today was in essence the pronouncement of Democratic principles," the Eastern Democrat said in a statement.

"What he described as his program is exactly what the Democratic party has been putting into effect over the years, and what we certainly will not change now."

"For this reason, the President should get a surprising amount of support from the 84th Congress, providing that he can obtain the approval of a sizable number of conservative Republicans."

"They always opposed legislation for the program advocated now by President Eisenhower when such a program was proposed by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman."

"To sum it up, I believe the President's message sounded very much like an announcement of his intentions to be a presidential candidate in 1956 on both tickets—the Democratic and the Republican."

Female Labor Poses Problem

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — The Department of Labor says that of 65 million persons in America's working force, 20 million are women.

And that, admitted an official today, is a problem.

Furthermore, the average age of women going back to work is increasing so that the biggest bulk of them these days are 40, 50 and 55 years old.

The statistics were given by Dr. Ewan Clague, commissioner, Bureau of Labor Statistics, Department of Labor. He was on a panel with Dr. Dorothy V. Whipple, a pediatrician and author of an Associated Press syndicated column on child care; John V. Waller, a Washington executive, and Mrs. Waller.

They all agreed that the place for a woman with small children is in the home.

But the young married woman without children—she's technologically unemployed in the home, said Dr. Whipple. She gets her husband off to work, has the apartment clean by 10 a. m. and then is bored.

That's when she starts thinking about getting a job.

Defiant Stores Get Summonses

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 6 (AP) — Police squads made the rounds of the city today handing out 500 summonses to stores that remained open on the Roman Catholic feast of the Epiphany in violation of a disputed city law.

Capt. Marius Belec said the number was a "big drop" from last year when 543 stores stayed open and received summonses on Epiphany. The law requires stores to close on certain Roman Catholic holy days.

President's Speech Notes Peace Paradox

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

In effect, President Eisenhower has told the nation in his State of the Union message that while "today the world is at peace," in actuality peace is impossible in today's circumstances.

That paradox was implicit in the message. It is a bitter paradox, and it was there because of a much more better one expressing the credo of Soviet communism: that peace is only an extension of war.

President Eisenhower expressed a noble aim for America's policy: encouragement of "the efforts being made in the United Nations to limit armaments and to harness the atom to peaceful use."

Yet he also said that "pending a world agreement or armament limitations we must continue to improve and expand our supplies of nuclear weapons for our land, naval and air forces."

Is such an agreement on armament limitations possible as matters stand today? President Eisenhower apparently does not think so, for he said:

"All of us are aware of the continuing reliance of the Soviet Communists on military forces. . . their steadily growing power includes an increasing strength in nuclear weapons. This power, combined with the proclaimed intentions of the Communist leaders to communicate the world, is the threat confronting us today."

If the Soviet regime continues to rely on force, and if that regime is dedicated to the aim of communicating the world, then such a thing as disarmament becomes impossible, and the United States continues to live in a state of suspension between war and peace. Implicit in the President's review was the conviction that so long as the Soviet Union is ruled by a regime of dedicated world Communists, real peace is not possible.

The President issued a grim warning:

"If the Communist rulers understand America's response to aggression will be swift and decisive—that never shall we buy peace at the expense of honor or faith—they will be powerfully deterred from launching a military venture engulfing their own peoples and many others in disaster."

That was not merely a restatement of a "massive retaliation" policy. There was no bluster about it. Moscow and Peking can be reasonably sure that it means the "rulers" of world communism will be held responsible for future aggressions, and if there must be punishment for that, the punishment will strike at the heart of world communism.

The President, at the same time, underscored how important it is to remember that "the military threat is but one menace to our freedom and security." He said Americans must not only deter aggression, but also "frustrate the efforts of the Communists to gain their goals by subversion."

This was another warning. It signified the West's awareness that the Communists hope to gain all possible, short of risking a world war that might crush the movement and all its leaders. The warning therefore had to be a clear one: the free world, under American leadership, would be alert to subplots and would be alert to subplots aimed at chewing up nations one by one.

Eisenhower Draws Applause From Democrats But Not From Russian Ambassador Zaroubin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—At 12:31 p.m. today the House doorkeeper, William N. "Fishbat" Miller, hurried down the center aisle of the house, paused and announced:

"The President of the United States."

And the general who had lost a political war smilingly advanced into the camp of the enemy to talk of the State of the Union.

Such are the wonders of U. S. politics that the Democrats, who were snarling at the Republicans two short months ago, applauded as loudly—well, almost as loudly—as the Republicans.

The President himself, who had warned of dire consequences if the Democrats took over the Congress, began with a graceful compliment to one of the leading Democrats, Speaker Sam Rayburn, of Texas, celebrating his 73rd birthday today.

And Eisenhower went on to say how he and the Democratic-controlled Congress would have to work with each other.

Everybody cheered politely. Probably it won't last long, but until something shatters the harmony, peace, it's wonderful.

Possibly next to the President the person who attracted the most attention was a moderately husky man with a built-in scowl who sat in the diplomatic section, Georgi N. Zaroubin, the Russian ambassador.

Zaroubin smiled pleasantly as he sat down, and he applauded when Eisenhower came in.

But from then on, his expression didn't appear to vary.

Even when Eisenhower was discussing the Soviet Communists, Zaroubin's expression didn't change from one of glum contemplation.

Eisenhower's speech wasn't the kind that causes a hearer to ruin his hands by beating them excessively. State of the Union Messages, which try to sum up literally almost everything in the world, rarely are.

But when he finished, with an apology for having talked so long (53 minutes), Republicans, Democrats and most of the diplomats joined in the applause.

Many eyes were on the man with the scowl, Georgi Zaroubin didn't applaud.

Congress Asked To Guard Against Nuclear Holocaust

Rayburn said that some of Eisenhower's recommendations, such as those for a strong defense and reciprocal trade were "very good." But he, too, wanted more details.

As Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said, Eisenhower stated a "Democratic premise when he says that the general good should be our yardstick on every great issue." He said that "we will consider his program in that spirit."

"The President's various recommendations," he said, "will receive reasonable consideration by reasonable men. In some instances they will be accepted; in others they will be rejected; and in still others, there will be substitutes. But the attitude of the Democratic Party will be in keeping with his call to subordinate partisanship, pride and prejudice to the nation's welfare."

Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California predicted that a large part of the program will be enacted with both Republican and Democratic backing. Knowland, who has differed from the President on some phases of foreign policy, said approvingly that "no appeasement or policy of waiting for the dust to settle is contemplated by the message."

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts, praised the legislative program as splendid and forecast substantial approval for most of it. He conceded that parts of it are controversial.

House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts sized the message up as "New Dealish" on domestic matters and added that Eisenhower must supply the leadership in bipartisan cooperation.

From chairmen of interested House committees came expressions of disagreement with Eisenhower's renewed stand for a flexible farm price support program already on the books, for his restatement of his "partnership" policy in developing water and power resources, and for his omission of a recommendation for statehood for Alaska.

And Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking Committee said the chief executive's public housing proposals—70,000 units in the next two years—were "inadequate."

So unquestionably there will be some trouble ahead for the President and his plea for harmony.

Eisenhower took 53 minutes to read his message, which was

T-B Society Approaches $10,000 Goal

THE LAST three days have brought $216.50 in settlements for Christmas Seals to the Monroe County Tuberculosis Society, sending the total returns close to the required $10,000 budget for 1955 operations.

Out of the $10,000 the society has already purchased and installed a $6,000 chest X-ray machine to X-ray all admissions to General Hospital—a service never before rendered—and to serve residents of the county generally.

There are still some 2,000 individuals or firms who received stamps, and who have made no settlement.

Their settlement is needed to complete the budgeted program of the society. Returns may be made by mail or in person to the society headquarters at 621 Sarah St., Stroudsburg. They may be made at these places of business of the following directors:

Carl T. Secor, East Stroudsburg, supervising principal; Leon Koster at Koster's Store, East Stroudsburg; Elwood Hintze at Hintze Cleaners, Stroudsburg; Mel Weiss at Weiss' appliance shop, Brodheadsville, or Dr. Philip Kitchen, Pocono Lake.

Assessment Costs Range From $3.38 High Per Property To 28-Cent Low

(In this story The Daily Record is neither condemning nor condoning the assessing methods employed by the county's assessors. It only presents on a comparative basis facts and figures taken from official Courthouse records.—Ed.)

By PETE OLWYLER

ASSESSING methods in Monroe County seem to vary as much as the weight and shape of the assessor.

In a couple of years assessments may be on a scientific basis, but that is hardly the case now.

Evidence of this can be found in a district-to-district check on the cost of assessing a statistical "average" property.

The cost varies astonishingly. It's 12 times higher in some districts than in others.

The reason is not apparent from the figures and records at the courthouse. Presumably, it simply takes some assessors longer to get around and assess each property.

Since the assessors are paid by the hour, this makes for considerable difference in the cost-per-property.

The most obvious explanation is not necessarily the right one. Logic indicates it should take longer to assess each property in a widespread rural district than in a borough where properties are packed in close and easily reached.

This is the case in one Monroe borough—but in another, the per-property cost is the highest in the county.

Geographical concentration of the properties seems to play little part in how long it takes to assess a given district.

Dave Bishong in Mount Pocono does the most economical assessing in the county. It costs Monroe taxpayers 28 cents a property for his assessing.

Bishong finished the average property in 19 minutes. He is the only assessor in the county still getting the old rate of 87.5 cents an hour—and this figures out to 28 cents for Bishong's time on each of Mount Pocono's 615 properties.

By contrast, it costs the county's taxpayers $3.38 per property in Stroudsburg Third Ward.

This cost, the highest in the county and 12 times higher than in Mount Pocono, was rolled up by Bess Clark.

Where it takes Bishong 19 minutes a property, it takes Mrs. Clark two hours and 42 minutes.

The difference is not a question of experience. Both Mrs. Clark and Bishong have assessed for some years.

Bishong spent 195 hours assessing 615 properties. Mrs. Clark took four times longer to assess half as many properties. (812 hours for 300 properties).

Bishong's record of the lowest per-property assessment cost is partly attributable to his 87½-cent hourly wage rate.

All other assessors in the county get $1.25 an hour.

(This is a quirk in the law: Bishong's predecessor went out of office before his term ended. Former commissioners appointed Bishong to replace him. But instead of appointing for the balance of the term, they appointed "until the next municipal election.") This threw the post of assessor in Mount Pocono "out of step" with the rest of the county. Unless something occurs to change the situation, the borough's assessor will always be elected in an off year from the rest of the county.

The change of assessing rates from 87.5 cents to $1.25 an hour went into effect this year. All assessors but Bishong began their new terms this year so they could get the new rate. Bishong must wait for a new term before he can do the same. If he was getting the new rate his per-property cost would be 40 cents instead of 28 cents).

Fastest assessor in the county was Stanley Quick of Coolbaugh Township. He averaged 18 minutes a property—a cost of 38 cents.

Coolbaugh with 515 properties is almost the same size as Pocono with 927. But the per-property rate was very different.

Where Quick assessed an average property in 18 minutes it took Harry E. Werkheiser an hour and 13 minutes in Pocono. This cost $1.52.

Arthur Rinker of Jackson and Sterling R. Wagner of Tobyhanna both finished an average property in 21 minutes. Cost per property: 44 cents. This is a case exactly opposite from Coolbaugh and Pocono. Jackson and Tobyhanna per-property costs are the same, yet the districts are very different in size. Jackson has 380 properties; Tobyhanna has 1,263, more than three times as many.

Here are some other quick assessors who take less than a half hour per property for an average assessment — so cost the county less than 62½ cents a property:

Paradise, 826 properties — J. Burton Hamblin: 25 minutes, 52 cents. Smithfield, 816 properties — John C. Place: 27 minutes, 56 cents. Barrett, 1,423 properties — Paul D. Miller: 27 minutes, 56 cents. Stroud, 1,585 properties — Clarence R. Transue: 28 minutes, 60 cents.

The assessors who cost the county up to $1 a property are: Middle Smithfield, 689 properties — Stewart DeWitt, 31 minutes, 65 cents.

Stroudsburg Fourth Ward, 487 properties — Floyd Fetherman, 32 minutes, 67 cents.

Ros, 389 properties — Bessie Altomose, 33 minutes, 69 cents. Hamilton, 984 properties — Edith Young, 34 minutes, 71 cents.

Chestnut Hill, 603 properties — Leo Everett, 38 minutes, 79 cents. East Stroudsburg Second Ward, 441 properties — Mrs. Jean Cummins (since replaced by Elinore Randolph), 40 minutes, 83 cents.

Stroudsburg Fifth Ward, 447 properties — Robert Brown, 41 minutes, 85 cents.

East Stroudsburg First Ward, 437 properties — Paul Shafer, 44 minutes, 92 cents.

Costs ranging between $1 and $2 for assessing an average property were paid by the county to these assessors:

Price, 124 properties — R. C. Bush, 49 minutes, $1.02.

Delaware Water Gap, 214 properties — John Staples, 50 minutes, $1.04.

Stroudsburg First Ward, 272 properties — Stephen Stackley, 54 minutes, $1.12.

Tunkhannock, 256 properties — A. B. Moyer, 58 minutes, $1.21.

East Stroudsburg Fifth Ward, 498 properties — Harold Smith, one hour 11 minutes, $1.48.

Pocono, 927 properties — Harry

Mr. Leader's Advisors

When he was campaigning for office, Governor-elect George M. Leader said he would enlist the help of the best men available, in seeking solution of the state government's many problems.

Mr. Leader made a good start in that direction last week with the announcement that 24 carefully-selected experts in various fields will serve as unpaid advisors in the transfer of governmental power from the administration of Governor Fine to the incoming administration of Mr. Leader.

Such a turnover in the state government is a vast operation, involving the transfer of thousands of jobs and the inauguration of some new policies. If it's done in a slipshod manner—which is the way it's usually done—the public service can suffer.

Also, this change-over period is the best time to tighten up on the administrative machinery, before newly-appointed officials develop a vested interest in their jobs. Mr. Leader can save some money for the taxpayers.

The group selected by Mr. Leader to help with this job is a distinguished one. Most of them are not familiar to the public but are recognized experts in their fields. Most of them have a knowledge of government and some have held appointive offices, but all are above partisan politics.

They include noted educators, scientists and department heads of University of Pittsburgh, University of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania University, community development experts as well as businessmen and local government officials.

Mr. Leader's cabinet members thus far announced are mainly party leaders with a long association in partisan politics. It seems certain that their work will be greatly benefited by the advice of the non-political consultants named by Mr. Leader.

The Governor-elect thus uses a readily-available resource of talent, knowledge and experience to strengthen his administration. And the people of Pennsylvania can be grateful that these experts are willing to contribute their time and work for the public welfare.

Safer Turnpike

It will be good news to several millions of motorists that the Pennsylvania Turnpike finally is making some progress in its effort to promote safety on the super-highway.

Last year's death toll amounted to 51. That compares with 91 in 1953 and 83 in 1952, the years in which the turnpike recorded its worst death tolls.

Some interpretation is needed here. More cars are being driven more miles on the turnpike than ever before. Therefore, we've got to measure the death rate against the volume of traffic.

Compared that way, the accident rate on the turnpike in 1954 worked out to 4.16 deaths per hundred million vehicle miles. In 1953, the rate was 7.5 deaths. In 1947, the best previous year, the death rate was 5.8 per hundred million miles. Thus, the turnpike is safer now than it ever has been.

For the rest of this editorial, we'll quote and endorse the words of Capt. Singleton Sheaffer, commander of the excellent Troop B, Pennsylvania State Police, which patrols the turnpike. Says Captain Sheaffer:

"We figure we saved 40 lives over the record of 1953, but we've got to keep on fighting until we've done everything that is humanly possible to make the turnpike as safe as it was engineered to be."

George Sokolsky Says . . .

People, On The Whole, Do Not Rule Much Better Than The Kings Ruled

When kings were real and men and women trembled before them, politics was a fine art practised within the palace and was designed to gain the king's favor. . . . The ladies played at it, sometimes to advance a husband or a son to make profitable marriage for a daughter. Occasionally great statesmen lost their heads in this operation or were poisoned which must have been pleasant for them.

"The kings and lords and barons, etc., delighted to go to war which was a comparatively small operation, fraught with great heroism and excitement. To the victor, the wars brought loot of all kinds, gold and silver, pretty women, territory, power. The king, as a rule, sat in his palace counting his possessions while the peasants lived like the pigs they raised, and whatever there was of a middle class hoped that they would not be taxed or borrowed out of existence. Sometimes when a king was hard up, he confiscated whatever he wanted or cut the edges off his coins, thus becoming rich.

Then the people asserted themselves and the kings went the way of all flesh, except a few like the Queen of England, the Mikado of Japan and the King of Kings of Ethiopia. The people took over the governments of most countries and produced democracies, republics, dictatorships and people's republics. And the voice of the people became the voice of God, which is politically a sound statement but otherwise sacrilegious.

The people, on the whole, do not rule much better than the kings did, although they do not use their daughters as political pawns and they do not poison each other to get elected. Sometimes they do use the mechanism of revolution which often is advertised as a means for the extension of human liberty but which usually is a mechanism for a gang shift. Generally speaking, in most countries, the people do not really care who governs them, so long as the taxes are low and the currency substantial.

But every once in a while, a figure appears who stirs popular imagination. Mussolini, for instance, knew how to stir the Italians by insulting everybody, including them. I once saw Orson Welles play Shakespeare's "Julian Caesar" with all the characters dressed in modern street clothes. Orson Welles had himself fixed up to look like Mussolini and I could well imagine a politician like that make a speech which would send the mob out to break windows and heads and whatever was around.

I never quite understand the hypnotic powers of Hitler, over the highly-cultured Germans, but it is always possible for a people in despair to accept the toughest guy just to see where it gets them. After all, the refined and artistic French accepted a foreigner, Napoleon, to give them an Empire and they never recovered from him. These strong men used the people who could have cut them down, and eventually did when the tide of popularity turned, as it always does.

On the whole, in most countries most of the people are really not interested in all the maneuvers among the politicians. That is why they prefer comic strips, sports pages, and a good juicy murder to the writings of pundits or the speeches of the learned. This is as true in one country as in another. Occasionally an issue arises that stirs the people, like beer in the 1932 campaign; or a personality arises that stirs their imagination, like the popularity of General Eisenhower in the 1952 campaign.

But they soon subside and turn back to their daily affairs, to Aunt Dora and Cousin Bessie and the lousy bridge game that was played on the night that Bill insisted on watching the fights on television. After all, life is to be nothing but the difficulties of Mendes-France and the higher criticism of Walter Lippmann? What about love in the Spring and the twinkling eyes of a daughter when she decides to marry her choice, willy-nilly?

Kings or people—politics is a play for power, whereas the people generally want to be left to their own devices which they know they can manage comfortably if no one interferes. Perhaps that is why our two ex-Presidents are more favorably regarded now that they are out of office than they were when they mightily bestrode the White House.

The nickname of the scarlet tanager is "robin with a sore throat" because of its hoarse caroling.

bars them from certain railroad, bus and super highway travel . . . We can't dig this . . . We think they should be compelled to endure the terrible ordeals of bus and other highway travel like the rest of us.

Letters To The Editor

The Daily Record welcomes letters with a bona fide address given. Such signatures and addresses will be withheld if the writer desires.

The Daily Record, Stroudsburg, Pa. Dear Sir:

With the opening of the new store hours I think it would be nice if the merchants would take up the subject of transportation for the employees.

The last bus leaves Main Street for East Stroudsburg at 5:38, which means that we must hire a taxi two nights a week now instead of one.

We wait for a taxi, they pack us in like sardines, drive us all over town and then charge us full fare for taking us home. That's taxi fare besides bus fare the rest of the week is rather high transportation for store employees, and it seems that there should be someone interested enough in our welfare to see that we have transportation home from work.

Unkind To Make Man Fight Way Down The Salary Scale

In the pressure of other business I seem to have missed the report on whether it's all right for Ol' Ralph Kiner to play ball next year for a measly $40,000 instead of the $65,000 to which he has been accustomed.

Nobody thought much about Kiner's agreement to hire out to the Cleveland Indians for 40 per cent less than he got from the Cubs—until Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said, "You can't do that." Or at least "maybe you can't."

This is a type problem that seldom comes up among people who are not adept at fielding grounders.

It was easy enough to see that Frick had a point, however. Obviously there is some good reasoning behind the provision in baseball law that no player's salary may be cut more than 25 per cent in one year. And a player's willingness to waive that protection could easily be looked upon as irrelevant.

But, regardless of how the baseball industry chooses to handle such matter, it is disquieting to think what could happen if this same principle were to be applied generally in real life. That might pose some new and serious old-age security problems, particularly in the higher income brackets.

An elderly executive, for instance, might derive considerable comfort from the thought that some official functionary is in there pitching to see that he gets $10,000 more in salary than he is willing to settle for. After all, even a person who would agree to pinch along on $40,000 a year probably would rather have more.

But suppose this executive, obviously a good enough man in his prime, has suddenly become a sucker for waist-high slow balls or has slowed up so much on his base-running that nobody can afford to pay him what the law says he must get.

It would be no cinch to readjust his family budget all at once from an income of $65,000 to an income of nothing at all. Especially when out of the no-income budget he still has to pay the taxes on last year's $65,000.

Such a sharp drop in living standards would be shattering to any man's morale, even if he managed to cushion the shock by picking up a little piece-work income, ha-langed fungoes or something.

An income floor somewhat above the bedrock level is a good thing, but we ought to be careful about getting the wage and salary structure so rigged up with legal restrictions that it becomes a mantrap.

When a man has fought his way up to a salary peak, it seems unkind to make the poor devil fight his way down again after he's over the hump.

I say if a man wants to take a $25,000 salary cut and try to eke out a living on $40,000 a year, let him. It's his life he's living.

Successful authors are pestered by total strangers who want advice on their lengthy manuscripts, or free copies of books plus an autobiographical sketch for "essays they are preparing" or lectures—for no fee—at their local clubs. Most writers just throw these entreaties into the waste basket. John O'Hara, author of "A Rage to Live," "Appointment in Samarra," and "Pal Joey," has evolved his own house rule for this sort of nuisance.

"My fee for reading any work of fiction," he announces, "is $5,000. For non-fiction, the same. For poetry, $1,000 a line. For consultation about good ideas, $10,000. For consultation about might-be-good ideas, $15,000. All fees payable in advance."

This has worked out so well for O'Hara, he's only been sent four unsolicited 1,000-page manuscripts (with no return postage, of course) in a recent week.

Milton Berle boasts that he's finally met the most spoiled animal in all the world—a rabbit who is an only child!

Far East's Aid Budget Stresses Economic Work

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Eisenhower has made his decision on the controversial problem of the size of the new economic and military aid budget for the explosive Far East.

His total is $1,200,000,000. That is about the same as the amount for the current fiscal year, with this significant difference: Beginning July 1, more would be spent for economic purposes in this crucially strategic region than for weapons.

Leaders of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee have been informed the proposed ratio is: Economic—$800,000,000; military—$400,000,000. They also understand the overall total tentatively fixed by the President for the foreign aid budget he will send to Congress is $3,000,000,000. That is $438,000,000 less than he recommended last year, but slightly more than the $2,781,000,000 which Congress voted.

The size of the new budget for Asia has been under discussion in inner circles for several months. Such bi-partisan leaders as Senator Walter George (D., Ga.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Senate Republican Leader William Knowland, Calif., sharply opposed anything resembling a "Marshall Plan for Asia."

They said they favor adequate aid, but limited to a one-year basis. That has been the President's policy on previous foreign aid budgets, and he is continuing it on the new one. In his unannounced decision, the President overruled State Department and other officials who advocated a long-range Asian program.

Inside details—Senate Foreign Relations Committee members have been told that three key factors are involved in the President's far-reaching decision:

(1) The proposed new economic aid is solely for the next fiscal year, and is in no sense a commitment to continue it beyond then.

(2) Beginning July 1, foreign economic aid will be administered by the State Department and military assistance by the Defense Department. The Foreign Operations Agency, currently handling both, will be absorbed by those two Departments. Director Harold Stassen has proposed that he be shifted to the State Department as Undersecretary in charge of its aid operations.

(3) Former Budget Director Joseph Dodge expects to complete around March 1 his recommendations on future foreign aid policies. The President recently recalled the Detroit banker to make a comprehensive study of this vital problem, and Dodge has indicated he will submit his report within the next two months.

Foreign Relations Committee members have also been informed that allocations of economic aid for the new Asian budget are as follows:

South Korea, $250,000,000; Japan, $100,000,000; India, $70,000,000; Formosa, $50,000,000; Indo-China States (South Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos), $49,000,000; Pakistan, $41,000,000; Thailand, $33,000,000; Flood and other relief, $50,000,000; Pool for members of the new Southeast Asia Defense Alliance $200,000,000.

This Senate Committee has jurisdiction over this momentous legislation. So far, members have received no explanation of these allotments. Secretary Dulles and Director Stassen have been advised to be prepared to answer a lot of questions.

Committeemen are particularly curious about two things: The proposed $70,000,000 grant for India, which is openly hostile towards U. S. policies, and the complete omission from the list of the Philippines, among the staunchest of U. S. allies.

Informally, from one State Department source, Committeemen have heard that this economic budget includes both Point Four and technical aid. Also that all signatories of the SEATO pact will be eligible for aid from the proposed $200,000,000 pool. This could prove a strong inducement to other countries to join the alliance.

Flashes—President Eisenhower has extended for another three months General J. Lawton Collins' special mission to Red-peril South Vietnam. The former Army Chief of Staff recommended this additional time, and the President approved it. Collins' big accomplishment so far is to arrange for American aid to go directly to the three Indo-China States instead of through the French, as in the past. . . . Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, wants to provide endangered South Vietnam with direct American air protection. Collins urged that during Radford's recent visit, and he promised to lay the far-reaching proposal before the Joint Chiefs. Under Radford's unannounced plan, the 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Midway would be assigned to supply this air defense. The giant vessel would be equipped with the B-26 light bombers the U. S. loaned the French during the Indo-China fighting. More than 50 of the planes have been returned and are now in Japan. The MIDWAY would be the largest carrier ever dispatched to the Far East. None of this class operated there during either World War II or the Korean conflict.

FFA Boys Top Farm Show Crop

—by H. G. Heller

The blue jackets of Future Farmers of America, so familiar throughout the Pocono Mountains region as a result of sound programs in Vocational Agriculture Education in the several high schools of the Pocono Mountains region will be more in evidence than ever at the State Farm Show in Harrisburg starting next Monday.

Heavy representation from the Poconos will again be found among the exhibits and in the non-exhibit contests, such as varied types of judging.

These young men will be competing against each other and as chapters in the judging rings, at exhibit tables, and on auditorium stages.

As H. C. Fetterolf, state FFA adviser in Department of Public Instruction puts it: "These vocational agriculture boys are the Future Farmers of America in more than name only and their achievements during Farm Show week will quickly prove it."

If the 1955 show is anywhere near like the 1954 demonstration of FFA achievements, the boys in Blue Jackets will again come off with a heavy percentage of "best in show" awards for capons and for small grains.

For instance in the 1954 show the FFA lads, competing with adult exhibitors, won 11 prizes for dairy cattle.

Value of FFA activities to future farm operation is found in some of the program events. They include demonstrations including playlets spotlighting improved methods of agriculture and farm management.

To compete for $1,386 in premium awards which Farm Show Commission has allotted in vocational classes, FFA members have entered exhibits in swine, dairy cattle, corn, small grain, potato, vegetable, honey, poultry, and egg departments of the show. Breeders' associations also have offered special FFA awards for Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, and Guernsey cattle, and Chester White swine.

For outstanding achievement in farming practices, leadership and scholarship, the degree of "Key-stone Farmer" will be conferred upon 217 FFA boys from all parts of the state. Six of them will receive additional honors because they had highest scores among all those considered for the degree.

Future Farmers of America are indeed more than future farmers in name only.

"This you will have proven at even greater lengths if you visit the Farm Show at Harrisburg between Jan. 10 and Jan. 14.

On Broadway

Headlined story from the Associated Press: "N. Y.: Jennifer Jones Hides After Flop. After 'Portrait of a Lady' flopped Christmas night, its star, Jennifer Jones, who made her Broadway bow in the play, went into hiding."

Hiding? She sat in the 2nd row—one seat off the aisle, with her husband in front of us at the biggest opening of the Broadway season, "The House of Flowers."

From Ben Gross' radio-teevee column: "Most press releases end in the waste basket. But not the publicity handout sent to this of us to ballyhoo 'Favorite Farm Daughter.' It was a basket of luscious L. I. potatoes and brussels sprouts, which I promptly ate!"

Silly boy. You gotta cook 'em first!

Headline: "Arthur Godfrey and Friend Buy Miami Hotel."

The eyebrow-raiser in the Arthur Godfrey-doodle is the employee who quit with the explanation that he "couldn't survive by earning $250 weekly."

It reminds us of one of our favorites: "The estimate of a fair salary depends on whether you're giving it or getting it."

Victor Mature's line: "I don't even want to think about marriage again until I'm at least 50."

A 17th Precinct detective working on a midtown robbery interviewed the victim. "How long do you think it will take before you catch the thief," she asked.

"We don't solve these things like 'Dragon' in half an hour, lady," he said. "We have no product to sell."

Some comics were talking shop at the St. Ben. "I wouldn't," said one, "wanna be in a spot like Berle, worrying about losing his sponsor to Gleason."

Movie critic Bosley Crowther (reviewing "Country Girl") showed off: "Gene Reynolds as a backstage myrmidon."

In Sardi's some showfolks were chatting about the wedding (very soon) of dramatic critic G. J. Nathan and actress Julie Hayden.

"I guess," one said, "Julie will give up her career."

"Any chance," almost wept an actor, "Nathan will give up his?"

Puffbluff: Deborah Kerr's recolor for insomnia: "I drink a warm can of beer and read a cold book."

Cracks like that keep me awake!

Like many actresses, Gladys George (who died recently) was known for being "on stage" all the time. Once, an indiscreet interviewer wondered about her four marriages. "What made you change husbands so often?"

"I wasn't changing husbands," edited Gladys. "It was changing audiences."

State Police Cars Travel 347,759 Miles

MONROE County's State police rolled up enough mileage in 1954 to circle the earth almost 14 times. The total for all three substations was 347,759 miles, said Capt. John J. Pezzante, commander of Troop A, Squadron 3, Hazleton.

Stroudsburg troopers made top mileage of 127,214, followed by Mount Pocono with 113,895, and Fern Ridge with 106,650.

The majority of man-hours were devoted to traffic work—a total of 24,554, with substations contributing these hours to the total: Stroudsburg 13,020; Mount Pocono 11,177; and Fern Ridge 10,357.

Stroudsburg troopers put in the majority of criminal work man-hours with 1,169, followed by Mount Pocono with 803 and Fern Ridge with 383, adding up to a total of 2,355 hours.

Fern Ridge put the most time into station work, logging 1,981 hours; Stroudsburg totaled 1,685; and Mount Pocono 1,281, making a county total of 4,947. On special assignments Fern Ridge put in 5,719 hours; Mount Pocono 5,431, and Stroudsburg 5,429; totalling 16,579.

Of the total 8,600 patrols made during the year, Stroudsburg police made 3,205; Mount Pocono 2,919; and Fern Ridge 2,476. Of the 183 criminal investigations Stroudsburg made 112; Mount Pocono 56; and Fern Ridge 15. In accident investigations Stroudsburg had 178; Fern Ridge was second with 133; and Mount Pocono was third with 91; a total of 402 for the county.

Stroudsburg men recovered six stolen cars worth $7,800 total; Mount Pocono recovered five, worth a total $2,250; and Fern Ridge recovered two, worth a total $3,150. County-wide figure was 13 stolen cars returned with a value of $13,200.

But $1,561.70 worth of other property also was recovered, with substations accounting for these portions of the total: Stroudsburg $865.95; Mount Pocono $675.75; and Fern Ridge $20.

Mount Pocono made the most traffic arrests—806—followed by Stroudsburg with 734 and Fern Ridge with 411 a total of 1,951 for the county. In criminal arrests Stroudsburg led with 46, Mount Pocono next with 38 and Fern Ridge last with eight, adding up to 92 for the county.

Of the 623 requests for assistance received during the year, Stroudsburg had 313, Mount Pocono 158 and Fern Ridge 152.

MISS Katherine McFarland of the Speech Department of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will speak on the faculty radio series Sunday, Jan. 9 at 1:15 p. m. over WVPO.

Miss McFarland's subject, "Shakespeare Today in Stratford" is a topic fresh and vital to her, for Miss McFarland spent the summer studying drama in Stratford, England. In her talk she will attempt to picture for her listeners just what the town looks like now, what memorials survive, and what the natives feel about Shakespeare's plays.

Miss McFarland recently talked on her summer experience to members of the American Association of University Women.

1954 Losses Below $10,000, Stroudsburg Firemen Report

STROUDSBURG FIREMEN spent a total of 1,856 man hours fighting 50 fires during 1954, Chief Miliard A. Marsh told Stroudsburg Council Wednesday night.

Although value of properties involved ran into the "hundreds of thousands of dollars," actual losses were below $10,000, Marsh said. He said 48 of the fires were within the borough and two outside. Fifteen homes were burned; 13 grass fires extinguished; and blazes put out in nine commercial buildings; seven autos; three electric wires; two private garages and a road grader.

These were the probable causes listed by Marsh: 17 burning paper or rubbish; 10 overheated stoves and heating plants and dirty chimneys; five auto ignition; four unknown causes; three each electric wires during storm and grease on electric ranges; two overheated automobile brakes; and one each broken pipe at bulk oil plant, oil burner, grader, smoking in bed, smoking in car, and short in electric sign.

All the fires were confined to the buildings in which they started, Marsh said.

Total fire-fighting time was 43.5

Garden Club Boards Join For Luncheon

In contrast to the weather, the luncheon of the joint boards of the Monroe County Garden Club was warm and bright. There was an excellent attendance at the luncheon, held at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian church. Dinner was served at attractively decorated tables.

Mrs. Oscar J. Liljenstein presided at the short business meeting. Mrs. J. V. Nixon, 804 Main St., Stroudsburg, was reinstated as a member. Plans were discussed for the annual meeting.

Mrs. Liljenstein then turned the meeting over to the new president, Mrs. David F. Shiffer, who briefly outlined the program for the coming year.

For the January meeting, members will be asked to bring left-over Christmas greens for arrangements. A small arrangement, suitable for a coffee table and using a favorite tea-cup, was suggested. It was also suggested at the board meeting that Christmas trees be placed outdoors and used as a feeder for the birds, and later to serve as a prop for spring planting of cucumbers or beans.

Altar Society Numbers 390, Board Hears

The executive board of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church met in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock Wednesday night. Mrs. Adolph Appel presided at the meeting.

Letters of thanks were read from shut-ins and others who had received remembrances from the society at Christmas time. Mrs. Walter Gretkowski, membership chairman, reported that there were 390 members on the rolls.

Mrs. William Hannas, program chairman, stated that Mrs. W. H. Caulfield, chairman of the January program, has scheduled a program entitled "Summer in Scandinavia" by Mrs. Eugene Martin. The ways and means committee, with Mrs. Rose Kennedy chairman, will have a guessing game. Mrs. George Hack is chairman of the hospitality committee for the January meeting.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. George Rung and Mrs. Charles Grace served refreshments to the following board members: Mrs. Adolph Appel, Miss Clara Lombard, Mrs. Thomas Leonard, Mrs. Walter Gretkowski, Mrs. William Hannas, Mrs. Theo. Vlechnicki, Mrs. Henry Hefele and Mrs. John R. Hauser.

Music Boosters To Inventory Band Uniforms

Tannersville — The Music Boosters of Pocono Township School met on Monday night, Jan. 3, at the home of Mrs. John Smith. The first part of the evening was devoted to the program of the Women's Guild, the theme being "Interpretation of the Guild Emblem."

Mrs. William Foose presented the outgoing president, Mrs. Smith, with a gold Guild Emblem from the members of the organization which was the first surprise. Mrs. Foose is the incoming President and the members had arranged a surprise birthday party for her.

Poems were read by Mrs. Lucy Anglemeyer, Mrs. Jean Howell played an accordion while the members sang. Barbara Metzgar took flash photos of the group and games were enjoyed.

Refreshments consisted of a birthday cake, ice cream, cookies, brownies and hot beverages.

In attendance were Jean Howell, Barbara Metzgar, Fay Gottier, Margaret Tallada, Naomi Leann, Ada Bates, Ruth Kinkley, Edith Gurr, Jeanne Gurr, Lorraine Anglemeyer, Muriel Foose, Helen Starnier and Jane, Graham Bryson, Mrs. Blanche Starnier, Lucy Anglemeyer, Laura Niering, Eloda Gerhard, Beatrice Lotts, Emma Niering, Alta Metzgar, Louis Metzgar, Margaret Smith, Cora Smith.

The program was given by Mrs. John Ribble, Theme: "The Family at Prayer." The Family that prays together stays together, she quoted and said that prayer should begin at home.

It was voted to give $5 to the March of Dimes campaign.

Refreshments were served. Those attending were Mrs. Newton Reimel, Mrs. Charles J. Newbaker, Mrs. R. W. Beecker, Miss Daisy Newbaker, Miss Edith Emery, Mrs. John Ribble, Miss Ruth Williams, Miss Ella Jelinek, Mrs. Harry Morgan, Mrs. Margaret McCoy, Mrs. Nick Ervey, Mrs. Harry Bellis, Mrs. Fred Gardner, and the hosts, Mrs. Daisy Decker and Mrs. Frank Gardner.

Anniversary Today — Mr. and Mrs. Clair Klierin of 331 Main St., Stroudsburg, are celebrating their wedding anniversary today. They have one son, Mark.

See where the Garden Club has also come up with an idea for using your old Christmas trees. The bird feeder idea is new, but the idea of saving them for cucumbers and beans brush is.

So far this year, however, nobody's come up with a bright idea of what to do with the old Christmas cards outside of packing them away with the Christmas tree ornaments which isn't very bright but does save your conscience about burning up anything so beautiful.

Anniversary Today — Mr. and Mrs. Clair Klierin of 331 Main St., Stroudsburg, are celebrating their wedding anniversary today. They have one son, Mark.

See where the Garden Club has also come up with an idea for using your old Christmas trees. The bird feeder idea is new, but the idea of saving them for cucumbers and beans brush is.

So far this year, however, nobody's come up with a bright idea of what to do with the old Christmas cards outside of packing them away with the Christmas tree ornaments which isn't very bright but does save your conscience about burning up anything so beautiful.

Presbyterian Women Hear Of Prayer Helps

DELAWARE WATER GAP — At the Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary meeting, held at the home of Mrs. H. J. LaBar, Tuesday night, Mrs. David Edwards, of Portland, was the speaker. Mrs. Edwards, who with her husband, Rev. David Edwards, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Portland, had been a missionary for 36 years in Chile, South America, spoke of the work there.

From her experience on the mission field, she emphasized the fact that the front line of workers in foreign fields needs the rear guard of home praying folk. She stated that they could feel the uplift and help that was theirs during May when their names were in the mission calendar for special mention in prayer in churches at home.

The yearly prayer calendar she termed the most important, "intelligent praying for the work is the most valuable gift" without which the money gifts lose meaning and power. She asked her listeners to remember in prayer Rev. Mr. Henderson, who, with his wife, had been their co-laborer in the field. His name is listed in the prayer calendar for special remembrance Jan. 27. His need is great since just before Christmas his wife was killed by an automobile accident.

A joyous note was in Mrs. Edwards' talk as she answered the women's questions about a young Chilean nurse who had been with her after she came home. She reported that the nurse had continued her training in New York, had taken honors and had been urged to take a lucrative position where she trained. The young woman chose rather to go back to her Chilean folks and become the first missionary to go up into the mountains of the Andes, 12,000 feet, where she works among the crudest of Indians.

The meeting had opened with a New Year devotional service led by Miss Nellie Burd. She gave the call for the New Year. Mrs. Edythe Glebe read the call to each new day; Mrs. Elam Gray, the promise of removal of burdens of sin; Mrs. Francis Davis, the promises of being made "new creatures in Christ." Mrs. H. J. LaBar read the meaning of the benediction given each Sunday in church, and Mrs. Drake led in a hymn of consecration.

Mrs. Geo. Hauser, re-elected president, thanked the various committees and chairmen for accepting re-appointment to their tasks for another year. A large proportion of the carpet cost has been paid to date. Mrs. Guy Kemper, gave her report which showed a healthy financial condition. The group expressed thanks to Mrs. Richard Hauser, retiring treasurer, for service during many terms. Reports were received from the Christmas spray sales which showed that many more could have been sold. The rummage sale report was turned in and the women voted to pay the remaining debt on the Church Histories and for the white goods used to decorate the church for Christmas time. Thank-you notes were read from shut-ins who received Christmas remembrances.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Francis Drake, with Mrs. Freida Faulkenhagen assisting her. Mrs. LaBar, assisted by Mrs. George Hauser served chocolate eclairs and coffee. Those present at the meeting were Mrs. Edythe Glebe, Mrs. Francis Drake, Mrs. Russell Buzzard, Mrs. Freida Faulkenhagen, Mrs. Elam Gray, Mrs. Henry Kulp, Mrs. M. E. Leffler, Mrs. Guy Kemper, Mrs. C. B. Rosenkrans, Mrs. George Hauser, Mrs. LaBar, Miss Nellie Burd and the guest Mrs. David Edwards.

Miss June Smith

(Lowry-Martin)

Tiny Baby Of 1937 Is Now 18 Years Old

Miss June Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith of Brushy Mountain, will come of age today. For her family it is a special occasion since at her birth on January 7, 1917, the odds were much against her attaining any age at all.

June was born in January, although she should not have been born until March 28. In preparing for her 18th birthday, June's parents brought forth the yellowing clippings which had heralded the news of her birth.

Because babies born three months prematurely seldom live, and because of her size, her birth attracted attention not only in the local paper but in metropolitan papers as well.

She was delivered at the Smith home on Brushy Mountain by Dr. Nina Mae Price and was kept alive without benefit of hospitalization or formal incubation. At birth her skin was so tissue-thin that it was transparent. She had no hair at all, even eyelashes, and her hands were no wider than the tip of a finger.

Her crib was a leather armchair drawn close to an open oven door, packed with pillows and hot water bottles. She was fed at first with a medicine dropper. She was bathed with olive oil. June was so fragile that it was not possible to weigh her until she was two weeks old when she tipped the scales at one and three quarter pounds, having gained steadily throughout that period.

By that time, with the daily visits of Dr. Price and Miss Emma Haines, who was the Red Cross nurse at that time, and the unceasing care of her family, June had learned to nurse properly, had grown eyelashes and, though so small, was sleeping, eating and behaving as normally as a full-time baby.

The story closed with the comment "Two older brothers and a sister are waiting for June to get big enough to handle."

Vacancy Exists On Borough's Health Board

THE STROUDSBURG Board of Health, in its annual report to Borough Council, issued a request for a budget of $200 for 1955. This amount would include the expenses of the health officer's attendance at the state convention.

Mrs. Margaret A. Pyle has been elected president and Mrs. Shirley Cummings, secretary, for the new year. The board is seeking a successor to Raymond Frantz, a member, whose term expired Jan. 1. John Kirk is completing the term of Ralph Bender who resigned last July.

The board endorsed a recommendation that filters be installed in the borough swimming pool in the interest of public health.

Health Officer Samuel W. Van Gorden announced there were two reportable diseases during 1954. Some 494 health cards and 42 licenses were issued.

The board was successful in early projects to revise health cards and establish an inclusive ordinance for food handlers, food products establishments and public eating and drinking establishments. Dr. Marshall Metzgar and Dr. J. M. Leitner were instrumental in this work, the report pointed out.

The health officer assisted the T. B. Society in the Chest X-Ray survey last spring as well as at the special units for food handlers.

Van Gorden cleared up garbage problems in various sections of Stroudsburg despite what the report described as a lack of cooperation from the people concerned. The successful garbage removal during the summer and fall also cleared up the excessive population of rats created by the waste.

Cornelia Stabler To Appear In Temple Israel Program

A PROGRAM OF monologues will be given by Cornelia Stabler next Thursday at Temple Israel in the vestry rooms.

Miss Stabler—known locally, also, as the wife of Clifford Gilliam, of The Inn at Buck Hill Falls—is noted throughout the U.S. for her character sketches in both comic and dramatic form.

She was born in a boys' dormitory at George School in Pennsylvania.

For several years she directed and produced programs given by the Buck Hill Players, a Summer theater at the Inn. She has also turned her talents to the field of radio writing and to writing and giving her own unique monologues.

It is in the field of monodrama that Miss Stabler appears to have found her basic interest. During the past few years she has appeared with great success in New York City, Philadelphia, Buffalo and many other cities.

Cornelia Stabler

Her father was a member of the faculty there.

She attended that school, then graduated from Swarthmore College with a major in dramatic English. Her study was continued at Theodor Irvine's Studio for the Theater in New York.

She has also studied dramatic writing and play production at Columbia University with an eye toward a serious, fulltime career in theater.

When she became Mrs. Gilliam, the plans for devotion to a career were abandoned, at least temporarily. With the Gilliam children now attending school, their mother has been able to renew her activity in the theater.

Willie Troy, outstanding middleweight who just finished training at Harry's Farm for tonight's bout with Floyd Patterson, is a deeply religious individual. Willie reads the Bible at least two hours daily and more often when time permits. Troy looks enough like Paul Andrews, number one contender for the light heavyweight title, to be his twin brother. The only difference in their structures is that Paul weighs considerably more than Willie. They are close friends.

Troy is a hard hitter and moves well in the ring, but from what this writer witnessed during Willie's training at Harry's Farm the Washington D. C. battler doesn't have quite enough "stuff" to defeat Patterson, the former Olympic hero. From this angle it appears as if Troy's only hope is to beat Patterson from the "inside," if Patterson can't solve Troy's "in-fighting" ability. Willie could win his 31st pro fight in 33 outings. Patterson has been defeated on only one occasion.

The Patterson-Troy tussle was limited to eight rounds because of the former's age. Bobby Gleason, manager of Nino Valdes, number one heavyweight contender, was scheduled to meet with Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club today, in regard to a possible "Rocky" Marciano-Valdes heavyweight title clash. At the present time it appears as if Don Cockell, British champ, will receive the first bout with Marciano, probably in March.

Marciano, almost a sure thing to beat the Englishman, will then meet Valdes in June. The June date will probably be an outdoor show in New York. Valdes won't be standing still until June. He plans several bouts, including at least one or two in the British West Indies. When Gleason signs for the Marciano bout he plans to take Valdes to Hot Springs, Ark. and then bring him back to Harry's Farm for a lengthy training session. Nino trained here for his bout with Hurricane Tommy Jackson, in which Valdes won by a knockout in the second round.

"Chico" Varona, welterweight champion of Cuba, plans to return to the United States from his native country on Saturday, January 15. He will begin training at Harry's Farm shortly thereafter. Several of the fighters mentioned on these pages in recent days have trained at other camps for years, but one look at Harry's Farm and they move to this area. Most of the battlers who have trained at the local camp once plan to come back for all of their fights.

One of those who has returned to the area camp is Jimmy Carter, current lightweight champion. Jimmy came into camp on Tuesday afternoon and plans to begin ring workouts on Saturday, if a troublesome cold makes such a move advisable. Carter has been going heavy on the medicine and has taken shots in an effort to get rid of the illness. Jimmy, who has been renewing many friendships in Stroudsburg the past two days, is scheduled to meet Bobby Woods in a non-title fight in Spokane, Wash., on Wednesday, January 26.

Carter reported that he felt pretty good yesterday, but whether he boxes or not over the weekend will probably be decided by trainer Ted Bentham. Jimmy worked out in a New York gymnasium for a couple of days during the holiday season before returning to Harry's Farm. Lulu Perez, colorful featherweight contender, is also going through his ring pace at the local camp. He has a Boston date with "Sandy" Saddler.

Ralph "Tiger" Jones, well known middleweight, is also drilling at the local camp under the guidance of trainer Jack Friday. Jones, close friend and neighbor of Carter's, is preparing for a Wednesday, January 19, date with Sugar Ray Robinson in Chicago. Harry Freedman, owner of Harry's Farm, plans to convert four more rooms for fighters, bringing the total to 10 rooms reserved for boxers training at the camp located on the shores of the Delaware River.

It is quite possible that Joe Louis, former great heavyweight champion, will come to Harry's Farm with lightweight contender Paul Andrews in the near future. Louis has taken over as Paul's trainer and is also serving in the same capacity with Philadelphia's Gil Turner and Germany's Pete Mueller. Andrews recently earned a title shot by stopping Boardwalk Billy Smith in six rounds in Miami. Paul has enjoyed great success and to the best of my knowledge has never lost a bout in Florida.

East Stroudsburg High Entertains Fountain Hill Five

Cavaliers Face Tough Cage Machine

EAST Stroudsburg High will try to make its basketball victory number one in the Lehigh-Northampton League tonight when the Cavaliers play host to a strong Fountain Hill machine that has won three of four outings.

The Cavaliers are currently tied for last place in the standings with Pen Argyl. Both teams have failed to win in three circuit outings, although the Cavaliers, appearing stronger in recent games, have won four and lost five against all opposition thus far in the present campaign.

Tonight's junior varsity encounter will begin at 6:30 p. m. and the main event at approximately 7:45 p. m.

Fountain Hill's lone defeat was inflicted by league leading Wilson Borough, a team coached by Sam Russell one time Stroudsburg High mentor. Wilson is the only unbeaten team in the league at the present time, having won all three of its outings.

East Stroudsburg dropped a 69-66 verdict to Parkland, fell before Wilson, 71-65, and took it on the chin against Coplay, another circuit powerhouse, 91-85.

The Cavaliers have won three of their last four games and finished third in the recent Lehigh Valley League Invitation Tournament at Slatington's Smith Hall.

Eastburg has shown a strong offense all season and in recent games has come up with a marked improvement from the defensive angle.

Coach Dick Forster is expected to stick with the same starting lineup that has carried the purple and white colors all season. This means that Barry Lambert and Howard Smith will be at the forward posts and high scoring Bill Penyl at center. The guard slots will be filled by Bob "Red" Kupiszewski and Bill Sommers.

Jim Kinler and Dick Gray are other Cavaliers almost certain to see action in tonight's encounter. Other Lehigh-Northampton League games tonight will send Pen Argyl against Coplay, Wilson Borough will battle Nazareth and Parkland will play at Hellertown. Bangor enjoys an open date in circuit warfare.

East Stroudsburg will play two games on the road next week, meeting Pen Argyl on Tuesday and Nazareth a week from today.

Several Offers For Champ

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Rocky Marciano's manager, Al Weill, said today he will know "by Feb. 15" when the heavyweight champion will be ready to make his next title defense. He can pick among three propositions offering total guarantees of $950,000.

Weill so informed Promoter Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club at a breakfast meeting. He sent the same answer to Jack Solomons, British promoter, who offered a $300,000 guarantee plus transportation for a Marciano-Don Cockell match at London in late April or May.

"By that time (Feb. 15), I'll know what kind of shape Rocky is in and how the cut on his nose is standing up. He'll go to camp at Grossinger's Sunday to do preliminary work for some exhibitions," Weill said.

If Marciano does fight in April he has a variety of offers including the London guarantee, a $400,000 payday for fighting Archie Moore and a $250,000 bid to meet Cuban Nino Valdes at Havana.

The 24-year-old righthander received an estimated $12,000 salary, which represents a 100 per cent increase over the first year minimum of $6,000.

Soo Stretches Streak

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6 (AP)—Jimmy Soo, 136, Philadelphia, won his 20th straight tonight, a technical knockout victory over Jimmy DiMura, 134, Syracuse, after 38 seconds of the second round of their scheduled eight-rounder at the Plaza.

In the strongest statement yet to come from this powerful conference, H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, Big Ten spokesman at a NCAA round table discussion of TV, said the conference could not accept another control plan similar to the one in effect during 1954.

He indicated that if the 1955 NCAA TV Committee should present another national game-a-week plan, the Big Ten would reject it and then likely would be forced to adopt a conference TV program of its own.

Stroudsburg Quintet Battles Whitehall Tonight

STROUDSBURG High's quintet, thirsting for its initial Lehigh Valley League basketball win of the infant campaign, is scheduled to oppose Whitehall on the Catasauqua High court tonight. It will be the second circuit outing for both teams.

Troy Tests Patterson In Garden Bout

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, just turned 20, is expected to enhance his reputation as a lightweight contender tomorrow night in a Madison Square Garden bout with hard-punching Willie Troy of Washington.

Rated No. 4 among the 175-pounders behind champion Archie Moore, the flashy Brooklyn boxer is a solid 18 to 5 favorite on the strength of his fine 18-1 record for 19 pro fights with 10 knockouts. Only a disputed decision by ex-champ Joey Maxim, June 7, mars Patterson's record since he returned from Helsinki in 1952 as an Olympic champion and turned pro.

The carefully planned schedule of Cus D'Amato, Patterson's cautious manager, originally called for a Troy bout in November. He accepted Jimmy Slade as a sub when Troy was injured. So now he is retracing his steps to take on Troy, the original opponent.

Because the match originally was made last year when Patterson still was 19, this 20th birthday was Jan. 4) the contracts call for an eight-rounder at 165 pounds, give or take a pound.

The first Garden fight since Dec. 17, the Patterson-Troy bout will be carried on network radio and TV (NBC), starting at 10 p. m. (EST). As in all New York bouts, two judges and a referee will score on a round basis with a supplementary point system.

Troy, only 22, is more experienced than Patterson with 32 pro fights since he came out of the amateurs in 1951. He also has a high batting average in the knockout league, stopping 23 opponents in 30 winning fights. However, his two defeats were by knockouts to Holly Mims in 1953 and to Joey Giardello last March.

Troy trained for this bout at Harry's Farm, Columbia, N. J.

Central Girls Down Bangor

ALLENTOWN—Allentown Central Catholic opened the newly formed East Penn Girls' Basketball League season with a convincing 53-26 victory over Bangor High here on the winning club's home court yesterday afternoon.

Barbara Holland led the Bangor attack with 10 points, while Kay Hughes added eight and Elinore Miller six. Connie Mazza added to the total with a single field goal. O'Donnell led the winning attack with 18 counters, while Cunniff had 11 points, Stader eight and Wagner three.

Bangor won a non-league clash with the Slatington lassies earlier in the campaign.

The East Penn Girls' League includes Pen Argyl, Bethlehem, Easton and Bethlehem Catholic in addition to yesterday's foes.

Bangor Lists New Coach

BANGOR—Bangor Area Joint School Board approved John L. "Jabby" Williams as the Bangor High School baseball coach for next season at a Wednesday night meeting here.

Williams was the only applicant for the job and will be paid $175. He succeeds Earl Rader who directed the Slatington baseball for only one season.

The new mentor is an assistant football coach and has been connected with Bangor High athletics for the past 17 years.

A schedule of 10 games was also approved by the board. The Lehigh-Northampton League season opens on Friday, April 22.

The Mountaineers, facing the circuit wars with its best team in recent years, would like nothing better than to even its record tonight and return to a threatening position once again.

Stroudsburg has been working hard for the past two days in an attempt to correct mistakes made in the Catasauqua contest.

Coach John Kupiec, hopeful of better things to come in the flag race, will start his usual lineup.

The starting array will feature Doug Shook and Dave Nevil at the forward slots and Dick Little at center. The guard positions will be manned by Don Diebler and Francis "Sonny" Dieber.

Vally Adelman, Bob Metzgar and Tom Metzgar are other Mountaineers likely to see action in tonight's battle.

Whitehall has featured an in-and-out team this season but one that is obviously capable of scoring an upset on any given night.

Other Lehigh Valley League games tonight will find Catasauqua invading Northampton, Palmerton playing at Emmaus and Lehighon battling Slatington at Smith Hall.

Stroudsburg plays a pair of games on foreign courts next week, meeting Slatington at Smith Hall on Tuesday and Northampton on its home boards on Friday.

Pope Pius Cagers Bow To Phillipsburg

The contest was held on the Roseto Public School court.

Pope Pius, paced by Mike Caponigro, held a 40-38 advantage with one and one-half minutes left in the ball game, but Don Patti led a Phillipsburg finish that found the visiting team finishing on the winning end of the count by one point.

Both teams were tied at 16-all at the end of the first half and Pope Pius held a 30-28 lead at the three-quarter mark.

Bangor Plays Host To Phillipsburg

BANGOR — Bangor High School enjoys an open date in the Lehigh-Northampton League basketball schedule tonight and will use the time to oppose Phillipsburg High in a non-circuit outing. The contest will be held here on the home court of the Slatington.

Junior varsity game action is on the books for 6:30 p. m., while the main event will get underway at approximately 7:45.

Bangor has a record of one victory and three defeats in league play and a mark of two victories and five setbacks against all opposition.

Coach John Heard will be without the services of his star guard Wayne Pyscher who suffered a facial injury in Tuesday's battle with Wilson Borough.

Pyscher will be replaced by Ronnie Everett, a senior. The other guard will be Duane Miller. Art "Bucky" Parsons will be at center, while Don Keat and Jim Freeman open as the forwards. Also expected to see action are "Jabby" Williams, Glen Heard and Jim Warlick.

Phillipsburg has lost all four of its games thus far this season.

Bangor is home with Fountain Hill in a league game next Tuesday and then plays Hellertown, away, on Friday.

Officials Discuss Rule Situations

A DOZEN members of the Stroudsburg Chapter of Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association Basketball Officials conducted a discussion of rules and play situations during a regularly scheduled meeting last night.

Wininger Leads In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6 (AP)—Handsome Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City, shaking off the handicap of rain, cold and gusty winds, shot a three-under par 68 today to take the lead after the first round of play in the $32,500 Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

As galleries shivered in 48 degree temperature, and player tempers varied as a chilling wind whipped up to 40 miles an hour, the 32-year-old Oklahoman toured the Inglewood Country Club's 6,308-yard, par 36-35-71 course in 33-35-68 blows.

Wininger, a threat in several major tournaments but never a winner, started his third year on the tough tournament trail with a beautiful round, and took a one stroke lead on the field.

Tied at 69 were veteran Jimmy Demaret of Klamath Lake, N. Y., who won this rich winter classic 15 years ago, and Eric Monti of Los Angeles.

Smiling Jimmy put together a 33-36-69 round, and Monti, a good local player, had 35-34-69.

Wininger, Demaret and Monti, and six other professionals in the field of 131 were the only players able to better par.

Greene-Dreher In League Opener

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
